Fox Blocks Integrated Learning Center (ILC) – A dynamic on-line educational and training library that is continuously developing to further support contractors, architects, engineers, developers, installers and future clients on the characteristics, construction techniques and advantages of the Fox Blocks product line, for all building types and applications, residential or commercial.

Fox Blocks ILC Installer Training – Years of experience have allowed FOX BLOCKS to create comprehensive, step by step best practice installation courses, accompanied by detailed Workbooks to reference the full Resource library provided on the website. Register for an on-line course and complete at your own pace.

Fox Blocks Certificates and Wallet Cards – Upon completion of an on-line Training Course, registered participants will receive a Certificate of Completion plus a Wallet Card to acknowledge successful completion of the course. This wallet card can be used when asked for by a building official or client.

As contractors gain experience, higher level wallet cards are earned. Tracking experience on successfully completed projects allows Fox Blocks to make appropriate recommendations on future jobs looking for a properly qualified installer.
